MURDER MOST FOUL.

A Wife Killed by Her Husband's Parmour—Double Tragedy Near Evansville, Ind.

RANSOM, Mich., Oct. 20.—Mrs. John Barber, who came here to prevail on her husband to return to his home, was stabbed to the heart by "Big Sadie," the woman with whom he was living. The Barbers lived at Lima, O., and a few days ago, Barber deserted his wife and six children and came to this place with "Big Sadie," a disreputable woman of Lima. He was followed by his wife, who reached here yesterday. She went to the house where her husband and the woman were staying, and besought him to return with her to his home. He seemed willing to do so, when the woman interfered, and in a fit of jealous rage, plunged a knife into Mrs. Barber's breast.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 20.—Near Blainville, Posey county, some thirteen miles from this city, Henry Kron and his wife quarrelled. The husband took a double barreled shot gun and shot his wife in the presence of their three children, who were powerless to interfere. Kron then passed into the next room and with the remaining load shot the top of his own head off. The children ran from the home screaming and aroused the neighbors. Kron was a well to do farmer.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20.—The police authorities insist that they are making good progress in the Hennessey assassination case; that they have the murderers in jail and will be able to secure the necessary evidence to convict them. The assassination, they assert, was ordered by Matrango, the head of one of the Sicilian gangs here, and had been planned long in advance. Among those identified and against whom the police claim to have all the needed evidence are Macheis, Matrango, and the four assassins. The police regard the arrest of the two named as the most important made. They are men of great importance among the Italians and very strong politically.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Isaiah Semoy, the candidate of several labor organizations for congress, was found dead in a room at the Livingston hotel at 7:30 o'clock this morning. He had committed suicide by cutting his arm in several places. He leaves a widow and a mother.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Last night R. E. Peterson, a mechanic employed by the Illinois Central Railroad company, shot and killed his wife at their home, in this city. He had been away from home and as he entered the house he found Mrs. Peterson and a boarder named Maxwell in a compromising situation. Maxwell escaped, but Peterson shot his wife in the left breast, death ensuing in a few minutes.

BROKE JAIL.

Six Tough Criminals Escape From Jail at Kalamazoo.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Oct. 20.—A most daring jail delivery took place last evening when six of the toughest criminals sawed through the iron bars on the second floor tier of the county prison and lowered themselves by a rope to the ground. The men who escaped were: F. D. Reynolds, sentenced Saturday to six years in the penitentiary for shooting at a conductor who ejected him from a train; Dan O'Day, sentenced to two and one-half years for larceny; Thos. Burns and Chas. Smith, Chicago crooks, awaiting trial for stealing 1,000 yards of velvet from a Grand Trunk train; Ed Wilson, burglar, and Lemuel Allen.

Feet Away—Children Scalded at Play.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 20.—At 11 o'clock this morning, shifting engine No. 1, belonging to the Monongahela connecting railroad, while pushing a train of empty cars along a side track near the casting house of the Elza furnace, exploded her boiler with terrific force. Engineer Flecherty, aged twenty-five, was blown from the engine cab into the Monongahela river, a distance of 300 feet. His body has not yet been recovered. Fireman Thomas McGuff, aged twenty-one, was hurled against the brick side of the casting house and instantly killed.

Persons Drowned by the Upset-

There was a terrific sea running at the time the fire broke out. Seeing that there was no hope of saving the barge, the captain had the men man the boats. The crew consisting of about twenty men crowded into two boats.

One of the boats was missed in the heavy sea, but the other was poked by the steam barge William Edwards and brought here. Captain Hugh Miller was in charge of Annie Young.

RAILROAD WRECK.

The Pittsburg, the Muncie and the Nickel Plate Each Have One.

Yesterday morning the limited passenger train, No. 5, of the Pittsburg road, left this city on time, with Thomas Tolley at the throttle, and Mr. Ryan as fireman. While going through the yards near Chicago at a high rate of speed, a freight train, doing some switching in the yard, accidentally got in the way of the train, and a very bad wreck followed. Engine 158, of the passenger train, and 145, of the freight train, were badly damaged.

Mr. Tolley saw the danger he was in and jumped from the engine, but received injuries which will keep him from duty for several weeks. He was brought to this city last evening on passenger train No. 8, and is now at his home on West William street. Fireman Ryan had his left leg injured, but is able to be around. The engineer and fireman on the freight train were not injured. The road was torn up and several of the cars were thrown from the track.

Saturday evening as passenger train No. 6 was going south on the Muncie road, it ran into a tree which had fallen across the track. Fireman Chas. Buss received injuries of a very serious nature. The engineer saw the danger, jumped and was not injured. Mr. Buss's home is in this city.

MANAGER BLEDSOE.

He May Resign the Management of the Singer Company's Business.

It was rumored to-day that N. H. Bledsoe, who has been in failing health lately, and who is at present suffering from serious nervous prostration at his home, 135 East Main street, would resign his connection as manager with the Singer sewing machine company. A SEATTLE reporter called at the office and was informed by Miss Bessie Bledsoe, the cashier, that her father was quite ill and although a change had been advised for him, there was nothing definite decided upon. She said it could not be authoritatively stated that Mr. Bledsoe would discontinue the management of the Singer business. The company recognize in Mr. Bledsoe a good manager and they will regret exceedingly to receive his resignation. They hope, as do his many friends, that after recuperation he can resume his duties.

THE political campaign of this year is rapidly drawing to a close. As yet but little of the old time excitement has manifested itself. The parties are warming, however, and the next two weeks will witness a great change in this respect. The home stretch is a ways the most interesting part of a race and it is particularly so in politics.

FORT WAYNE will have a new electric railway. The line is to start in the city, run through Lakeside, thence to R. T. McDonald's suburban addition and then to the Catholic cemetery. A contract for its construction has already been made by the owners of the Lakeside addition with Mr. McDonald. The electric car ought to be in use on all of our street railroads.

ACCORDING to the American Architect, the provisions of the McKinley bill will not materially change the cost of large and expensive buildings, but "the cost of the cheap class of buildings will be enhanced." Two people are waking up to the fact that this republican scheme of increased taxation is at every point a greater burden upon the poor man than upon the rich man. All denials to the contrary notwithstanding, that is the deliberate purpose underlying the McKinley outrage.

THE services at the city department of the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon were conducted by the Rev. Eldridge, the pastor of the Wayne street M. E. church, who delivered an interesting address on the consecration of Christian workers. He believed that there should be as much consecration in the pew as in the pulpit, and that what was done by Christians should be done with earnestness and a determination to succeed in what was undertaken. If you are a Christian, he said, be a Christian out and out and give God your best services. He continued in this line, and his address was one that was calculated to urge his hearers to renewed zeal in Christian work. An interesting after-meeting followed, in which short personal experiences were spoken, and prayer offered for the state convention of the Y. M. C. A., which soon assembles at Richmond.

THE POOR MAN'S CARPETS.

The protectionist organs insist that there is no cause for the democratic howl about the increased duty on the poor man's carpet, and assert that the McKinley bill increases the duty on these goods more than on the plain fabrics. A denial of such a statement is rendered unnecessary by the figures which speak for themselves. Following is a comparison based on the value of carpets imported in 1890.

It will be observed that the very smallest increase is made on Axminster of the highest cost, and the very largest increase on the cheapest felts.

CLOTHES WILL COST.

The poor will be in luck if this should turn out to be a warm winter. They can then largely wear their summer clothes and forego the other suit which Jay Gould notes that they will have to do without on account of the increased tariff. A winter's wardrobe would cost, sure enough. A woman's ulster, for example, that last year cost $15 will call for about $19.50 this year, and the suit of clothes that $10 got last year will cost about $12.60. Of course you can get clothes at the same nominal prices. But there are clothes and clothes. As one New York dealer in woollen goods says:

The clothiers will have the choice presented to them of buying in woollen goods the standard qualities at largely increased cost, or of substituting a depreciated article, cheapened by adulteration of cotton, shoddy, etc., at old prices. In either event it is the consumer who bears the cost and suffers the loss.

The material for an all-wool dress will cost about $2 more than it did last year. A waterproof that cost $6 will cost about $8. Here is a table that gives a fair idea of what the rich man's tariff will do for a winter outfit as named there. The articles are cheap, but they are of decent quality—may be what Mr. McKinley would call "cheap and nasty"—but that is the portion of the masses:

Old Price.	New Price.
Outside garment of wool for women.	$15.00
Men's suspenders.	5.00
Men's trousers.	10.00
Cotton dress (medium).	5.00
Waterproof.	6.00
Woolen dress, at 20 cents per yard.	2.00
Same at 15 per yard.	1.50
Suit of clothes for man.	20.00
Suit of clothes for boy.	10.00
Suit of clothes for boy.	10.00
Overcoat for man.	15.00

Totals. $105.25 $138.10

For the woman there is allowed a coat and a woolen house dress and a good woolen dress for best wear. The man and the boy are each given two suits of clothes. If they have to get along with one, as Jay Gould says, it can be deducted, but in the comparison it would be the same, though "tough" in the fact. What the addition of $30 to the yearly expenditures mean to men who live on their wages they understand well enough. The average yearly savings of a Massachusetts mechanic's family of five workers, who can earn an average of $303.47, as reported by the bureau of labor statistics of that state, is $49.05. Thirty dollars knocks a pretty big hole out of that. This $30 is just the account for the wearing apparel as stated. Add the increased cost on utensils, tools, medicines and the other on the more than 4,000 articles that the McKinley bill covers and there will be a realization of how nice it is to be a rich man and have a tariff turning in profits and how hard it is to be a poor one skinned to make those profits.

THE WORKMAN'S FOES.

Rev. Dr. Preaches an Eloquent Sunday Sermon on the Subject.

"The Foes of the Workmen" was the subject of the sermon preached yesterday morning at the Simpson M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Driver, who for several weeks has been delivering a series of discourses on labor topics, and crowding the seats of his edifice with attentive listeners at every service. It was the first of the series that the Rev. Dr. has been preaching, and by many it is said that his effort of yesterday was the ablest and most interesting. The reverend gentleman is a young man and the secret of his success is his earnestness and plain, practical manner of talking. As an admirer said, "he preaches from the shoulder and isn't afraid of stepping on toes." He preaches on popular topics and brings to his service a peculiar style of speaking (something after Sam Jones' style), and a vast fund of information in regard to every day life that makes his sermons always interesting to listen to. Added to this is his humor and eloquence, which amuses and charms, and makes him a popular favorite with his audiences. The enemies of the workmen, he said yesterday morning, were those evil influences in life which tend to pull him down and prevent him from making that progress in life which he would otherwise do if these evils were properly met. Among them he spoke of the wholesale exorciser, who seeks to tear down everything; the political demagogue, who preaches utopian theories and promises impossible things; the extravagant housekeeper, who keeps her husband poor by her wastefulness; the extravagant man, who spends his earnings foolishly and neglects to economize; the scarlet woman, who with her charms leads men to ruin; gambling, that leads men to spend their money in cards; and horse races and schemes of chance; the avaricious employer who crushes and starves his employees with small wages that he may grow rich; and whisky and tobacco, which rob him of his earnings. "Of New York's papers," he said, "85 per cent. are drunkards; 82 per cent. of their mothers and 551 per cent. of their fathers are drunkards. Our saloons placed side by side would reach from New York to Kansas City. Each year we pass $1,500,000,000 over the bar. Besides, we foot up a bill of expenses amounting to $900,000,000. Great Britain, but half as large as Texas, thus squanders $500,000,000 annually. Half a million of our people are in the whisky business. We pay them $1,500,000,000. We pay $900,000,000 expenses. What does the workman get in return? The workman will never be on his feet until the saloon is on its back. Nor will he ever be enthroned under the arch of prosperity until it is dead and buried. If you crown one you must kill the other. Our tobacco bill is $600,000,000 per annum. Every adult man spends on an average $80 each year for spittle. How dare he frown when his wife asks for a new dress or a bit of ribbon? Count up your whisky bill, your tobacco bill, your gambling bill, your scarlet woman bill, and all the rest! Do you not see an index finger pointing towards better times? Give me the money you have spent for rum, tobacco, gambling, scarlet women and in miscellaneous extravagance during the last thirty years, and I will present to every workman in our country a $3,000 residence, fill every wardrobe with the daintiest and richest Brussels and Lyons, put blooded horses into every barn, and erected carriages into every vehicle, educate every child in the Boston university and give him a paid-up policy, drawing legal interest, that will secure him and his against want for all time to come."

Rev. Driver is a brilliant pulpit orator. He has earned his reputation by his peculiar style of eloquence, his earnestness, his plain way of telling practical truths, and his handling of themes that are of public interest. He lectures at the rooms of the city department of the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow evening, on "Longfellow, the Poet."

But we wish to state in the most positive, emphatic manner that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula in every form. The most severe cases, even those terrible for despatch, have yielded to this medicine when all others failed. If you suffer from impure blood in any way, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

MURDER MOST FOUL.

A Wife Killed by Her Husband's Paranomia—Double Tragedy Near Evansville, Ind.

Ransom, Mich., Oct. 20.—Mrs. John Barber, who came here to prevail on her husband to return to his home, was stabbed to the heart by "Big Badie," the woman with whom he was living. The Barbers lived at Lima, O., and a few days ago, Barber deserted his wife and six children and came to this place with "Big Badie," a disreputable woman of Lima. He was followed by his wife, who reached here yesterday. She went to the house where her husband and the woman were staying, and besought him to return with her to their home. He seemed willing to do so, when the woman interfered, and in a fit of jealous rage, plunged a knife into Mrs. Barber's breast.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 20.—Near Blairsville, Pa., some thirteen miles from this city, Henry Krom and his wife quarreled. The husband took a double barreled shot gun and shot his wife in the presence of their three children, who were powerless to interfere. Krom then passed into the next room and with the remaining load shot the top of his own head off. The children ran from home screaming and around the neighbors. Krom was a well to do farmer.

New Orleans, Oct. 20.—The police authorities insist that they are making good progress in the Hennessey assassination case; that they have the murderers in jail and will be able to secure the necessary evidence to convict them. The assassination, they assert, was ordered by Matrauge, the head of one of the Sicilian gangs here, and had been planned long in advance. Among those identified and against whom the police claim to have all the needed evidence are Machebe, Matrauge, and the four assassins. The police regard the arrest of the two named as the most important made. They are men of great influence among the Italians and very strong politically.

Rocky Mountain, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Lafayette Seney, the candidate of several labor organizations for congress, was found dead in a room at the Livingston hotel at 7:30 o'clock this morning. He had committed suicide by cutting his arm in several places. He leaves a widow and a mother.

He had been away from home and as he entered the house he found Mrs. Peterson and a boarder named Maxwell in a compromising situation. Maxwell escaped, but Peterson shot his wife in the left breast, death ensuing in a few minutes.

DEADLY EXPLOSION!

The Engineer's Body Carried 800 Feet Away—Children Scalded at Play.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 20.—At 11 o'clock this morning, shifting engine No. 1, belonging to the Monongahela connecting railroad, while pushing a train of empty cars along a side track near the casing house of the Elia furnace, exploded, blowing the boiler with terrific force. Engineer Fishery, aged twenty-five, was blown from the engine cab into the Monongahela river, a distance of 800 feet. His body has not yet been recovered. Fireman Thomas McGuff, aged twenty-one, was hurled against the brick side of the casing house and instantly killed.

Conductor James Finkler, fifty years old, was perhaps fatally scalded. Brake-man Joseph Ferry was frightfully cut and scalded about the head and shoulders, but may recover. Thomas Clark, a laborer, had his legs broken and back injured. Several men at work in the furnace were slightly injured by escaping steam and flying debris. What remains of the wrecked engine stands reared up on end. The steam dome, sand-box and stack have not been found, while the boiler is split almost the entire length and flattened out like a fan. The cause of the explosion is not known.

This is the second time in the history of Allegheny county of a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree being returned on Sunday. Killian stands convicted of the killing of Mrs. Rudert, the wife of a jeweler at Yarmouth, Pa., on the night of December 23d, 1889. Three men robbed the jewelry store, and while protecting the property of her husband, Mrs. Rudert was shot in the head and killed. The two supposed principals in the murder, Peter Griffin and Thomas Conner, have not been arrested.

STEAMER BURNED.

On the Waters of Lake Huron—Nine Passengers Drowned by the Upsetting of a Boat.

Detroit, Oct. 20.—Word has just been received of the burning in Lake Huron, off Lexington, Mich., this morning of the Lake Superior transit company's freight steamer, Annie Young. Nine lives are reported to have been lost by the upsetting of a small boat.

There was a terrific sea running at the time the fire broke out. Seeing that there was no hope of saving the barge, the captain had the men man the boats. The crew consisting of about twenty men crowded into two boats.

One of the boats was missed in the heavy sea, but the other was plucked by the steam barge William Edwards and brought here. Captain Hugh Miller was in charge of Annie Young.

RAILROAD WRECK.

The Pittsburg, the Muncie and the Nickel Plate Railways.

Yesterday morning the limited passenger train, No. 5, of the Pittsburg road, left this city on time, with Thomas Tolley at the throttle, and Mr. Ryan as fireman. While going through the yards near Chicago at a high rate of speed, a freight train, doing some switching in the yard, suddenly got in the way of the train, and a very bad wreck followed. Engine 158, of the passenger train, and 148, of the freight train, were badly damaged.

Mr. Tolley saw the danger he was in and jumped from the engine, but received injuries which will keep him from duty for several weeks. He was brought to this city last evening on passenger train No. 8, and is now at his home on West William street. Fireman Ryan had his left leg injured, but is able to be around. The engineer and fireman on the freight train were not injured. The road was torn up and several of the cars were thrown from the track.

Saturday evening as passenger train No. 6 was going south on the Muncie road, it ran into a tree which had fallen across the track. Fireman Chas. Buren received injuries of a very serious nature. The engineer saw the danger, jumped and was not injured. Mr. Buren's home is in this city.

MANAGER BLEEDS.

We May Reveal the Management of the Singer Company's Business.

It was rumored to-day that N. H. Bledsoe, who has been in failing health lately, and who is at present suffering from serious nervous prostration at his home, 135 East Main street, would resign his connection as manager with the Singer sewing machine company.

A business reporter called at the office and was informed by Miss Bessie Bledsoe, the cashier, that her father was quite ill and although a change had been advised for him, there was nothing definite decided upon. She said it could not be authoritatively stated that Mr. Bledsoe would discontinue the management of the Singer business. The company recognizes in Mr. Bledsoe a good manager and they will regret exceedingly to receive his resignation. They hope, as do his many friends, that after recuperation he can resume his duties.

FOLLOW PICKINGS.

A Bad Mixture for Ague," Says Dr. Harding—Immoral Character.

James Robbins was arrested by Officer John Kennedy for being very drunk. Robbins said he was en route home to Ohio and he took whiskey and quinine for the ague. Later he took a glass of beer, which affected his head. "Bad mixture for ague," said his honor, as he recorded Robbins for eleven days.

John Olin, an old-timer, was up for drunkenness. Officer Dasher made the arrest. "I will give you thirty-five days," said the court, and accompanied his sentence with words of warning for the future.

Samuel Jones, James Martin, Kate Jones and Minnie Elwell were arraigned. THE WORKMAN'S FOES.

Rev. Driver Frensch was a eloquent Sunday sermon on the subject.

"The Foes of the Workingman" was the subject of the sermon preached yesterday morning at the Simpson M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Driver, who for several weeks has been delivering a series of discourses on labor topics, and crowding the seats of his edifice with attentive listeners at every service. It was the first of the series that THE SHERIFF representative has listened to, and by many it is said that his effort of yesterday was the ablest and most interesting. The reverend gentleman is a young man and the secret of his success is his earnestness and plain, practical manner of talking. As an admirer said, "the preacher from the shoulder and isn't afraid of stepping on toes." He preaches on popular topics and brings to his service a peculiar style of speaking (something after Sam Jones' style), and a vast fund of information in regard to every day life that makes his sermons always interesting to listen to. Added to this is his humor and eloquence, which amuses and charms, and makes him a popular favorite with his auditors. The enemies of the workingman, he said yesterday morning, were those evil influences in life which tend to pull him down and prevent him from making that progress in life which he would otherwise do if these evils were properly met. Among them he spoke of the wholesale exorciser, who seeks to tear down everything; the political demagogue, who preaches Utopian theories and promises impossible things; the extravagant housekeeper, who keeps her husband poor by her wastefulness; the extravagant man, who spends his earnings foolishly and neglects to economize; the social woman, who with her charms leads men to ruin; gambling, that leads men to spend their money in cards, and horse races and schemes of chance; the avaricious employer who crushes and serves his employees with small wages that he may grow rich; and whisky and tobacco, which rob him of his earnings. "Of New York's paupers," he said, "85 per cent. are drunkards; 82 per cent. of their mothers and 50 per cent. of their fathers are drunkards. Our saloons placed side by side would reach from New York to Kansas City. Each year we pass $1,500,000,000 over the bar. Besides, we foot up a bill of expenses amounting to $300,000,000. Great Britain, but half as large as Texas, thus squanders $600,000,000 annually. Half a million of our people are in the whisky business. We pay them $1,500,000,000. We pay $300,000,000 expenses. What does the workingman get in return? The workingman will never be on his feet until the saloon is on its back. Nor will he ever be enthroned under the arch of prosperity until it is dead and buried. If you crown one you must kill the other. Our tobacco bill is $600,000,000 per annum. Every adult man spends on an average $50 each year for spirits. How dare he brown when his wife asks for a new dress or a bit of ribbon? Count up your whisky bill, your tobacco bill, your gambling bill, your carfare women bill, and all the rest! Do you not see an index finger pointing towards better times? Give me the money you have spent for rum, tobacco, gambling, carfare women and in miscellaneous extravagance during the last thirty years, and I will present to every workingman in our country a $3,000 residence, fill every wardrobe with the daintiest and richest Brunelles and Lyonses, put blooded horses into every barn, and create carriages into every vehicle, educate every child in the Boston university and give him a paid-up policy, drawing legal interest, that will secure him and his against want for all time to come."

Rev. Driver is a brilliant pulpit orator. He has earned his reputation by his peculiar style of eloquence, his earnestness, his plain way of telling practical truths, and his handling of themes that are of public interest. His lectures at the rooms of the city department of the Y. M. C. A. to morrow evening, on "Longfellow, the Poet."

Dr. Carter, the general manager, is a physician and a scholar, and one of the ablest physicians in this country. The following voluntary testimonial is certainly a very strong endorsement:

FRIDAY, Oct. 18, 1890.

My Dear Sir:—For seven years my wife suffered from a complication of diseases, attended by many eminent physicians as honorable. She tried many doctors, but got no better and she, as well as myself, became discouraged. Three months ago we were induced by visit Fort Wayne and went with Dr. W. J. Carter, of No. 126 Calhoun street, and after doing so she decided to put herself under his treatment. She has gained fifteen pounds in flesh since then, has a good appetite, sleeps well and has better health now than she has had in twenty years. Dr. Carter has no knowledge of this testimonial being written, but we take this method of showing our gratitude and will never cease to recommend him to the sick.

Very Respectfully,
L. F. Dwyer,
Pastor Zion Church.
